

HAIM PERI (79)

Haim was born in Givatayim, in 1944. In his youth, he joined the "Hashomer HaTza'ir" youth movement and from there, aged 18, he joined a Gar'in (core group of people who together founded a kibbutz) and arrived at Kibbutz Nir Oz. In Nir Oz he met Osnat; they have 5 children and 13 grandchildren. In the kibbutz he combines his skills as a carpenter, his work in the garage and his great love for sculpting in iron and wood. His sculptures are placed throughout the kibbutz, and in the fields he established a sculpture garden and a gallery for revolving exhibitions. This became a place, a stage and exposure for artists from the region and all over the country. Over the years he has also always engaged in creative writing - scripts, stories and also wrote two children's books.

Haim is a humanist in every fiber of his soul, and guided by his strong values. He is always all about the people; he sees every person, and puts their well-being and rights in the center. He appreciates knowledge, values, good company, people who are willing to make an effort for something of moral value. While prestige, money, assets, and status never impressed him. He has a witty and sharp sense of humor, reads countless books, is an avid fan of Hapoel Tel Aviv, loves cinema, culture and diverse music: from Arik Einstein and Chava Elberstein, through rock classics, to jazz. Haim is a "people person", enjoys family and friends gatherings, always with a glass of wine, beer or whiskey. As a grandfather, he is dedicated and invested. He is an eternal child who always takes the grandchildren for a walk, to the pool, to the animal-petting area, to the fields - to pick, taste, run around and enjoy the simple things of life, like a fresh orange eaten under a tree in an orchard.
